VOLUME XIX, NUMBER 39

IRONTON, MO.,
THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1886.

The Farmington News last week had a half-dozen paragraphs referring to M. R. Smith, of Marble Hill, in very complimentary terms, but vaguely come out, Bro. Pigg, and tell what you know, in plain English. Insinuation is mean and unmanly.

Dexter Enterprise-Messenger: "A united Southeast," which is always so much desired by Cape and New Madrid counties, never fails to be on the basis of you fellows take buzzard and we'll take the turkey, or we'll take the turkey and you fellows take the buzzard—or in other words—they, or their friends are to have all the offices, and the balance of the southeast must stand by, applaud their throats sore and do the voting."

"Call you this a Democratic administration? So far as four-fifths of the office-holders can make it so, it is the meanest and most time-serving Republican sort of dynasty." So writes an esteemed and prominent Democratic friend. We have no present certain, consoling words to give, and only commend to him that hope for better things which should spring eternal in the Democratic breast. The President is an honest man, and we must believe he will see his way clear to reflect the will of the people long before his term of office closes. And that will, most assuredly, is to elect Republican office-holders, and fill their places with good, old-fashioned Democrats.

We are not going to fall out with Brother Ake because he soft-soaps Seibert at this time, for he has a brother whom he desires to see appointed receiver of the land office at Ironton. But the REGISTER must not imagine itself the mouth-piece of southeast Missouri.—Enterprise-Messenger.

In discussing public men and public measures the REGISTER—let us say it once for all—is not guided by personal motives antagonistic to or apart from the welfare of the party. And, by the way, Seibert is not an endorser of J. T. Ake's application. We recognize his right to have friendship for men outside the Ake family. The REGISTER does not set itself up as the mouth-piece, par excellence, of Southeast Missouri. But it has its views of men and things, and exercises the right to express them.

Remedy for "Strikes."

It is generally admitted that something ought to be done to relieve, or, at least, mitigate the difficulty and danger arising from the conflict between labor and capital. There should be no conflict, and, if justice to all concerned can be secured, there will be no conflict. The public welfare demands that something be done to meet this growing menace. If we are capable of "self government" let this live issue be met, and let it be settled on the eternal principle of right. One plan that suggests itself to me is this: Let the legislatures enact that when large bodies of men "strike" there shall be a committee selected, one half by each party, and let them select an efficient, competent and disinterested person to act with and assist them in settling differences, with power to summon witnesses—get all the information necessary, and, case of tie, cast the decisive vote. Let this decision be final and binding, unless good reason can be shown for an appeal to the courts.

In case of such appeal let it be heard and settled as in similar action ordinarily. But enact, also, that while the case is in the hands of said committee or court, the status ante quo shall continue, and, if necessary, be enforced by civil authority. This would obviate the evil consequences of continued interruption. Thus public and private interests would be conserved. Just and uniform wages would be secured to laborers, and capital would be more secure, while the public would have some reliable guarantee against anarchy and business distraction. I believe in "personal liberty," but it must not be allowed to endanger the prosperity and happiness of whole communities. So, too, I believe in the unwritten law of competition. But let it respect humanity.

THE HOLINESS BAND.

A New Sect Fully Sanctified.

Ed. Register.—During a recent visit to Greeley and other points in DeWitt county we met with a new sect of religion called the "Holiness Band." Their ministers preach sanctification of both soul and body; they go among the churches and call upon the members to come forward and be sanctified soul and body; they claim that none of the churches are right and their members will all be eternally lost unless they are sanctified both soul and body. They have raised quite an uproar among the people and quite a number of very intelligent persons have joined the band. Others are seekers for sanctification. Old citizens, who have been in the church for forty or fifty years, are now going up as penitents, falling upon their knees, and praying to be sanctified soul and body. Old mothers in Israel are earnestly praying to be sanctified; old fathers, too. We here give the names of a few who claim sanctification and who are seeking for the same: Mr. Jos. Maxwell and wife, Mrs. Sarah Clark, Mr. Pemberton and wife, and others, all of Stone Hill, DeWitt county, Mo.

The Apostle Paul says he besought the Lord three times, that he might be sanctified in body, but the Lord told him, No! and Paul desisted at once that he would not be a fool, but would glory in his infirmities. Paul again says, and if Christ be in you the body is dead because of sin; but the spirit is life because of righteousness. Again, he says if ye live after the flesh ye shall die; but if ye, through the spirit, do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. Then, really, if Paul besought the Lord three times, that the Messenger of Satan might depart from him, we think it useless in us poor mortals beseeching him for a like thing. In fact, we are made to believe that their ministers are only ambassadors for the next presidential election. For we see in their organ they rather lean toward St. John, of Kansas, and they preach to their audiences to leave off whiskey, tobacco, and, in fact, all evil habits, in order that the body may be sanctified. Which we shall not oppose, but we do oppose such rotten stuff coming in the midst of our churches (where all is peace and harmony) and causing such uproars as are at present among the people in the western part of Reynolds and DeWitt counties; and we warn all good people to be on their guard and look out for the roaring lion.

Paul says we beseech you mark those who cause divisions and offences among you, contrary to the doctrine you have learned, and avoid them, for they that are such worship not the Lord Jesus, but their own bellies, and by their flowery speeches they deceive the people.

It is reported that some of their converts are on the verge of insanity. The further they get from one another, who had three children, said the Lord told her to destroy them and follow the Holiness Band, and she cut the throats of two of them, and would have soon finished the third one but for the interference of others. It is also reported, by good authority, that another lady, who had a good companion and two children, claimed that the Lord told her to leave her husband, and children and become a life partner of a man who is sanctified soul and body. Putting her words into effect, she says to her children, my dear little darlings I must leave you and obey the Lord, and off she went and joined her second-suit and Band. Another case is that of a young man who has been a devoted Christian for three or four years. After joining the band he began to work on his younger brother and has annoyed him until he (the brother) has denounced Christianity altogether. TOMAS.

The April St. Louis Magazine is strong in fiction, containing a highly finished Western story, "On the Outskirts of Civilization," by Maude Meredith, and the opening chapters of a beautiful Maryland domestic novel, by Miss Emerald Boyd. Rev. Dr. Hooper has an instructive account of "Beyond the Rocky Mountains" which is well illustrated with Mormon views and nature-scenes; "Free" is a powerful poem by Minnie W. Aramstrong; Horace S. Keller, Mamie S. Paden, Edward L. Fales and others have pleasant poems; besides, Editor De Meil's departments, "Light Moods," "Authors, Books and Papers," "Marginals," etc., are as entertaining as ever. Send 10 cents for a copy with a set of gold colored cards, to New St. Louis Magazine Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
